

Gerard Wolf

Gérard Wolf is 55 years old. He is an Agricultural Engineer and a graduate of the INA [National Institute of Agriculture] and the “Institut d'Etudes Politiques” [Institute for Political Studies] in Paris. He is married and has one daughter.

Professional Background

- He joined EDF in 1998, serving as Executive Coordinator for the CEO's office until March 2000, when he was appointed Executive Vice President for Group Coordination (2001-2002) and Executive Vice President for the Group's business networks (2003-2004). From November 2004 until 2005, he was in charge of Group Development and Major Projects for the EDF Group.
- Since March 2006, he serves as Senior Executive Vice President of the EDF Group with responsibility for international operations.
- Between 1986 and 1986, before joining EDF, Gérard Wolf served in various positions at the Ministry of Internal Affairs in various regions. Concurrently with these assignments, he served on the staff of the Minister of Defense, handling relations with defense contractors.
- Between 1984 and 1986, he was a member of various teams at the Department of Overseas Territories, in Paris and Nouméa. He speaks four languages and manages several sports associations.